

About Fraser

Senator for Queensland, Fraser Anning was raised on Wetherby Station, a cattle station 100km South of Richmond.

Fraser has lived and worked in regional and rural Queensland for most of his life and has a strong connection to the regions.

As a former grazier and publican it has given Fraser a well-rounded insight into the hardships that rural Queenslanders face.

Fraser has been involved in conservative politics for over 20 years, and as an old Joh National with strong traditional values, he has a firm belief in individual responsibility.

As a representative of rural and regional Queensland, Fraser has made it his goal to champion nation building projects that bring wealth and prosperity to regional Queensland.
